Mirrors are a decorator's best friend, and with good reason – a well-placed mirror makes the most of a room's natural light, enhances views, opens a small space and adds oomph to decor. The key lies in pairing the right mirror with the right location to maximise its decor-uplifting potential. Here are 14 proven pairings to try in your own house.

4. Narrow mirror flanked with art

Whether placed over a console in the entry or above a buffet in the dining room, this combination will not fail you.

Start with a narrow mirror, either rectangular or faceted, and beef it up with two pairs of small, framed artwork. The key lies in the symmetry of the arrangement –pick four equal-size frames and measure precisely when you hang them.
